Support the Foundation

It was in Arles that Vincent van Gogh produced his most iconic paintings – works whose modernity would profoundly influence the course of 20th-century art. It was in Arles, too, that Van Gogh dreamed of founding a “studio of the South”. Almost 130 years later, the Fondation Vincent van Gogh Arles casts a different light on the creative genius of the Dutch master by confronting his oeuvre with contemporary art.

Having already welcomed 150 000 visitors and some 150 school groups, exhibited ten artists around Vincent van Gogh at the centre, and hosted a rich and diverse programme of activities and events, including the international symposium “Van Gogh – Duchamp”, the Fondation Vincent van Gogh Arles has become a leading cultural and social actor in the region in its very first year.
